Message:

At present, House District 33 includes all of Rockwall County, population 113,653, and the city of Frisco, population 224,566. The city of Frisco's population is nearly twice the population of the entire county of Rockwall.

My wife and I have resided in Rockwall County 35 years. All four of our children, now adults with children of their own, graduated from Rockwall High School.

We owned and operated a business in Rockwall 32 years, until retirement 3 years ago.

Rockwall county is a semi-rural area sharing common interests with adjoining counties of Kaufman and Hunt.

About the only thing common Rockwall county has with the City of Frisco is the State of Texas.

Therefore, I urge you to realign us with east Texas cities and counties with which we share common values and commerce.
