Message:

My husband and I just found out about how our area might be taken out of a Montgomery County voting district and combined with a Harris County district. If this information is true, we are both totally AGAINST lumping our area in with a Harris County district. When we bought our property and built our dream home in the Allenwood subdivision of Montgomery County, we did so to be within the boundaries of the Tomball ISD, but also within the boundaries of Montgomery County because our values are similar to those in this area. We specifically bought and built here for several reasons that still remain true today. We and our neighbors DO NOT want to be included as a voting block combined with Harris County, and we desire to remain a Montgomery County voting district for several reasons. If you wish to contact us, you can reach me at the phone number listed or our home address.
