Message:

The way that districts are drawn right now make zero sense. I live in District 25, and it's drawn in such a way that there are two tiny little inlets into the city of Austin before enveloping a swath of rural communities to the west, south, and north of my neighborhood. I moved one mile away, across Mopac, and suddenly found myself in a different Congressional district. I want it to make sense, but it doesn't. And that is why the districts must be redrawn, fairly, without advantage to one political party or the other.
