Message:

I'm another Texan who believes voting is in fact a fundamental right in our state, as in our country. We are blessed to be able to vote.

We all know Republicans are blatantly maneuvering to consolidate more political power, for the sake of staying in power regardless of the majority of Texans' preferences.

I ask you to respect and show that respect for democracy by promoting a fair and transparent redistricting process.

While it may mean fewer Republicans win elections, it will increase the odds that we continue to have a democracy to hold elections.

And just think, if Republicans decide to vote for legislation that helps more Texans, they'll win elections fairly and honorably.

There is no dishonor in losing fairly.

There is danger as well as dishonor in winning unfairly.
