Message:

It would helpful to all Texans if the districts proposed were more geographically close. There is no equity in putting major cities that are hundreds of miles apart together. Every major metro area in the state ,needs it's own representative. Rural counties that have different needs than more metro urban areas of the major cities don't need to be lumped in with them. It dilutes the voice of rural population. Texas is growing and that should be reflected by our maps of our representatives, not stifled by.
