Message:

Redistricting should be determined by the population counts of the decennial census, not by a politically charged body, and especially not for the purpose of securing power for one-sided agendas.

The advancement of this bill will further dilute the power a voter has in the system we call a representative democracy. If voters are already unmotivated to participate because of voter exhaustion and confusion, this will lead to even less people turning out to vote.

There are way more important things that should take precedence in this special session. The assistance for the hill country after the flooding should be more of a priority. I am sure there are other issues related to education, healthcare, the economy, transportation, and others that can be considered.
