Message:

As a resident of Texas and a proud voter in Senate district 12, I am writing to express my deep concern and strong opposition to the proposed redistricting plans currently under consideration. These efforts appear to be aimed at silencing Democratic voices and diminishing fair representation in our state.

Gerrymandering undermines the core principles of our democracy. Every Texan, regardless of political affiliation, deserves equal representation. Drawing district lines to favor one party over another is not only undemocratic, it breeds distrust in the electoral process and weakens public confidence in our institutions.

Texas is a diverse and growing state, and our electoral maps should reflect that reality. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. Redistricting must be transparent, fair, and rooted in preserving the voting power of all communities, especially historically marginalized and underrepresented groups.

I urge you to oppose any redistricting maps that are clearly designed to give one party an unfair advantage. Stand with the people of Texas, Republicans, Democrats, and independents alike, who believe in fair elections and equal representation.

Thank you for your service and for considering my views on this critical issue. I look forward to seeing you uphold the democratic values that Texans deserve.
