Message:

My comments is to oppose the intention to redraw the Texas congressional maps.

Any changes will threaten to dilute the political power of Asian American and Pacific Islander communities across Texas. Over 2 million of AAPI populations are the fastest growing racial group in the state and making arbitrary changes without new census data will lead to maps that fail to reflect our growth and our voices. Fair maps mean fair representation — and that means drawing districts that respect the true diversity of our communities. This is clearly a partisan effort to gerrymander communities like mine.

Gerrymandering undermines trust in our democracy. It silences communities that deserve a seat at the table. We urge the committee to maintain the current maps until a fully funded and accurate census is completed in 2030. Also, those map should be drawn based on census and community not based on how they vote.

You cannot abusing your power to keep your in power!
