Message:

The special session to redraw districts during a non-census year is a blatant attempt to further disenfranchise Texan voters. Republicans are openly violating voting rights that should be constitutional. Texas Republicans have been coached and cajoled by the current presidential administration to redraw districts that they approved of less than 5 years ago. Texas Republicans are also attempted to force a special session by stalling any conversation regarding flood aid. Shame on Texas Republicans for putting a convicted felon in front of their own constituents health, wellbeing and political involvement.
