Message:

The recent redistricting in Texas is a blatant attack on fair representation and democratic values. By manipulating district boundaries to entrench political power and dilute the voices of communities of color, Texas lawmakers are undermining the very foundation of our democracy. Gerrymandering—whether for partisan gain or racial exclusion—is unacceptable in any form. Every Texan deserves equal representation, and redistricting should reflect the true makeup of our communities, not the political ambitions of those in power. We must demand transparency, accountability, and maps that put voters before politicians.
