We the people know what Republicans are trying to do gerrymandering this state and it is frankly in unconscionable. Let free and fair elections take place, what do you have to fear? It's Texas after all, we're a red state right? It is your obligation as representatives of the people to do the right thing and uphold democracy. Do not redistrict this state again; the people will not stand for anymore blatant corruption. This country is divided enough as is, do you really think starving us city people of proper representation by quite literally dividing us and our neighbors on a map is going to make anything better? Find your spines, stand up to the lunatic in the Whitehouse. If you think your ideas on how to run the state and country are better win a fair election. I pray you all come to your senses on this issues and actually district the state fairly if the entire endeavor can't just be abandoned. History is watching you ladies and gentlemen, surprise us for a change.
