Hello,

I am an average 18 year old girl. I attend college, I have parents, I have siblings (one younger and two older), I am well off, I am thriving, and I am happy. I am privileged. I believe you are as well. However, there are many that aren't in this world. There are many that aren't in this country. There are many that aren't in this state. That's in your control and that's in your hands. It may require putting your constituents above yourself, and I understand that may be difficult and you may not even wish to think about doing that. However, we were created on this earth not just to think of ourselves but to especially have others in mind when making decisions. You have the power, understand that your decision will in the long term hurt others, possibly not yourself, but others. It may not hurt me in the long run, but it may hurt others. I am asking you to not allow the redistricting of Texas, because it may not hurt you but it will hurt others in the long run. Republican or Democrat you know how things will get when the clear bad guy wins it all, don't give them the power even if you are associated with them. Be selfless.
