Message:

The fear mongering redistricting that the Republicans have chosen to bring into play is shameful. The US is supposed to be a democracy and yet Republicans are trying and fighting so hard to destroy the very tread of this country, so it switches to an authoritarian government. You politicians forget that your constituents are who you represent and who you should actually be working for and a man child who throws tantrums when he doesn't get his way. My goodness, republicans act like they were never invited to play in the sandbox before. Redistricting to guarantee self-benefit is absolutely and horrendously immoral. Those that choose this path of selfishness, egotistical, solipsistic and shows your constituents you true standing and how are you really against those who voted for you and only interested in lining your pockets with my hard-earned money. Please start using your own brains and point that moral compass that you have allowed to be bent so far, the right way for your constituents.
