There is no good reason- except political greed- to redraw districts in a noncensus year. This is an expensive and apparently discriminatory move on the part of our governor in an attempt to cater to the president.

Independent voters like me are increasingly frustrated by the moves of our legislators who do not seem to listen anymore to their constituents because rich billionaires and authoritarian presidents have much more sway.

Vote no to redistributing and be concerned much with funding an updated emergency system for Kerr County, which the State previously refused to do.

In closing, I would note I am a native born Texan, property owner and I do vote. But it seems the vote of individuals is not as important to our legislators these days. Redistricting now seems just another way to dilute them.
