Message:

I strongly oppose the mid-decade redrawing of congressional districts. Redistricting is meant to follow the census, not to be manipulated midstream for political gain. This move—lacking any clear justification—raises serious red flags about corruption and democratic integrity. Redrawing the lines now, especially to favor the Republican Party, is not only deeply suspicious but also profoundly undemocratic. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. Texas deserves fair representation, not partisan power grabs.
