Letter to our Texas Leaders:

I'm writing out of deep frustration and concern over the unchecked power of Donald Trump and certain members of Congress who seem to have abandoned their duty to serve the American people.

As my representative, I urge you to take meaningful action to hold this administration accountable for its disregard of the Constitution and the erosion of our democratic norms. It's disheartening to witness the laughter, racism, and greed that have become all too common among our nation's leaders. The stripping away of our freedoms, healthcare, education, and basic human rights is nothing short of a betrayal of the trust we placed in them.

I'm especially alarmed by the hypocrisy of using God as a political weapon. This manipulation of faith for personal or partisan gain does not reflect the values of fairness, justice, and compassion that I—and so many Americans—hold dear.

As a voter, I'm paying attention.
I expect leadership that prioritizes the people, not the egos and agendas of those in power. Congress must stop enabling a leader who is not acting in the nation's best interest.

We need representatives who will stand firmly for justice and democracy. Please remember that your constituents are counting on you to protect our rights and restore the integrity of our institutions.

Now is the time to lead—not follow. Now is the time to put people over power. I'm asking you to join me and demand that our government starts working with us, not against us.
