I have always considered myself a Republican, until Trump. Yes I said Trump, not President Trump. I do not have any respect for the man. I am now an Independent. I now vote for whoever I feel is qualified to do the job. Trump is NOT! I am so frustrated with the fact that NO ONE will stand up to Trumps unlawful acts, constant lies, cutting programs that have good merit, firing so many people and then bitching because job numbers are down (and firing more people he doesn't agree with). Even the Supreme Court won't stand up to Trump or for our Constitution. They let Trump have his way, which is just wrong. They are supposed to have some control over him. I thought the Senate and Congress were to keep things in check, not let the President walk all over them or agree with everything he wants without going through the proper channels that were set up for this very purpose.

Now Governor Greg Abbott is playing the same game because Trump said he wanted Texas redistricted for five more Republican votes. What is the matter with you people? Why does everyone have to bow down to Trump? I don't blame the Democratic lawmakers for leaving the state. They are getting ready to be forced into something that doesn't need to be changed. Why should the lines be redrawn to benefit the Republicans? Just because Trumps says so? NO!

This country is going to hell! Especially the last six plus months. We have a want-to-be dictator for a President that doesn't know the difference between a lie and the truth. It is really pitiful. It causes me much concern. I'm 70 years old. Am I going to have my Social Security to get me through? Is it going to be enough to pay my bills and buy groceries with prices always going up? Too much has changed in the last six months.

Our government doesn't seem to get much done because the parties are always arguing and fighting about the issues. Can we not compromise on issues without one or the other always having to be right or get their way? And I am sorry, but trying to change the Constitution is just wrong.

That is like trying to change the Ten Commandments!

It is very depressing listening to federal and state government right now. It is time to start voting some people out and someone in that will listen to the people. You are working for us!!
