Message:

I strongly oppose the proposed mid-decade redistricting. This is a blatant abuse of power that undermines the integrity of our democratic process. The Texas Constitution and long-standing practice call for redistricting once per decade after the census — not whenever those in power see an opportunity to tilt the political map in their favor.

Redrawing districts in the middle of the decade wastes taxpayer money, sows distrust in government, and dilutes the voice of voters who elected their representatives under the current maps. It's an attack on fair representation and a dangerous precedent that says elections can be manipulated whenever political convenience demands it.

Texans deserve stability, fairness, and respect for the rule of law in our elections. I urge you to reject this power grab and stand for a process that serves voters — not politicians.
