Message:

History has a long memory. You think that redistricting right now will accomplish a short term goal of personal success or grant you a small amount of power but with each erosion of liberty comes consequence. Greed is a sin for a reason after all. The consequence may not be evident tomorrow but rights for gender equality were fought using the effects it had on men. People will fight back, loudly, legally, and progress will continue. You may gerrymander in favor of Republicans today but opening that door goes both ways. I can't wait to watch Texas turn blue thanks to your own cowardice. Hope that boot tasted good at least.
