Message:

As a life long Texan and a voting constituent, I want to state my disapproval for attempts at redistricting. This special session should have been focused on providing aid for those devastated by recent floods and for creating a better warning system so we never again experience such a preventable tragedy. Instead, focus is now on fulfilling a demand from the president that will clearly disenfranchise minority populations. To say this is anything other than gerrymandering is a blatant insult to your constituents. Every congress member, representative, elected official, and the governor knows exactly what is happening. What is possible, however, is that you do have the ability to make the ethically right decision. You can stick to the agreed plan for redistricting and the original plan for the special session.
