Message:

I urge you to reconsider this mid-decade redistricting process. Texans deserve fair representation, not manipulation of district lines to protect political power. Many of us, regardless of party, believe in the principle that voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around.

This redistricting effort, targeting fast-growing, diverse, and increasingly Democratic counties, sends a chilling message to Black, Latino, and young voters: that their voices are expendable for partisan gain. That is not just unethical. It's un-American. If this committee proceeds with maps that intentionally silence the will of millions of Texans, history will remember it. Courts may intervene, but the real consequences will be seen at the ballot box, where voters will reject leaders who deny them fair and equal representation.

I urge you to stand for DEMOCRACY, not short-term control. Protect the voice of every Texan, both rural and urban, Republican and Democrat, and reject any map that serves politicians instead of people. I'm asking you to remember who you serve, NOT your party, but your PEOPLE. You can silence voices on paper, but you will not silence the people of Texas. We are watching, and we will vote.
