Message:

This is not the time consider redistricting. You, as elected officials, have more important matters to address - like disaster preparedness. With the worst loss of life since the Hurricane that devastated Galveston in 1900, you should have no other priority except to make Texas safe for Texans. As a state, we have failed Texans twice in recent history, first with winter storm Uri of 2021 and now, just a short time ago, the hill country floods. Without the needed warning systems and infrastructure, we lost CHILDREN and families who experienced, what should have been one of the happiest memories of their lives, a tragedy that could have been avoided. Now, when you have a chance to right the wrongs of the past, you chose to make redistricting your priority, along with a bathroom bill, abortion pills, and even THC. This is idiocracy at its best. I am embarrassed and ashamed of your lack of concern for Texans. Why waste your time on issues that are of no consequence to most Texans. Do your job and represent us, prioritize our safety, resiliency, and funding of disaster preparedness over anything else. Focus on what Texans care about, not what someone from the white house in Washington DC and doesn't care one iota about the every day Texan wants. Do not move forward with any redistricting.

Thank you
