It has been 26 days since the devastating floods, a reminder that 139

People lost their lives, and many still have not received any help from Fema, or state funding.

The help in most areas, such as clean up, housing, food, clothes, furniture are by independent organizations, ---Not by the Texas Republican Party-A party that failed to pass Bill 13 during the last session which would have established a statewide plan to improve Texas disaster response. Will that happen again in this special session???

And yet here we still are—having hearings for redistricting. A reminder—

Redistricting is not supposed to happen until after the 2030 federal census, BUT as we all now know Governor Greg Abbott has added congressional redistricting to the agenda for the current special legislative session. The governor is following directions from the Fellow-Sorry to reiterate but on May 30 2024 he was convicted on 34 counts, so he told Abbott to create 5 additional Republican congressional districts in Texas before the 2026 election. Out of 38 current Texas congressional districts, 25 (or 66 percent) are Republican districts while 13 (or 34 percent) are Democratic districts. If the president gets his way, can any of you tell me what the ratio will be ??? Don't worry I will tell you --30 (79 percent) R districts to 8 (21 percent) D districts. The current districts are already gerrymandered and unfair but the Fellow's directive is EXTREME. And we know how he likes to cheat to win.

The Texas Republicans are saying the 2021 map is illegal?? How can they say that when they drew that map??? And as I reiterate again—Why are you not showing the public THE MAP?
