Message:

My name is James Moon, and I live in San Antonio, TX.

I am writing to strongly oppose mid-decade redistricting efforts currently under consideration. My community is already facing challenges with fair representation, and further redrawing of district lines—outside of the regular census process—will only deepen those issues. These changes could divide neighborhoods, dilute the voting power of communities of color, and erode trust in our democratic institutions.

Redistricting should be about ensuring fair and equal representation, not political gain. I urge you to reject mid-decade redistricting and instead focus on protecting the integrity of our elections and the voices of all Texans.
