Hello,

Rather than splitting up neighborhoods with districts that snake up, down and all around the map, would it not serve our communities better if entire cities, or portions of bigger cities were grouped with the surrounding neighborhoods & towns? One municipality may have different needs from another, so why split neighborhoods apart? I would prefer some sort of blind grid system so gerrymandering was done away with and Texans would receive the fair representation they deserve. Let's be the first state to stop bending the rules, let's be national leaders. It's up to you to make that courageous first step.

Thank you for reading this comment.
