Message:

I respectfully disagree with the recent Texas redistricting, as I believe it undermines fair representation and weakens the voices of historically marginalized communities. The redrawn district lines appear to prioritize political advantage over equitable representation, diluting the voting power of communities of color and disrupting existing neighborhoods with shared interests. This process lacks transparency and accountability, leading to justified concerns about gerrymandering and the erosion of democratic principles. All Texans deserve district boundaries that reflect our state's diversity and uphold the fundamental right to fair and equal participation in the electoral process.
