Regarding: Congressional

Message:

I strongly oppose any efforts to redraw district maps in a way that undermines fair representation for all Texans. Redistricting should serve the people of Texas and not political parties. When maps are drawn to favor one party over another, it dilutes the power of voters, particularly marginalized communities, and erodes public trust in our democratic process.

Texans deserve electoral maps that are:

- Compact and contiguous
- Respectful of existing communities of interest
- Reflective of the true political, racial, and geographic diversity of our state

Our current system already suffers from widespread voter disengagement and mistrust. Gerrymandering only makes this worse. Redrawing the lines to entrench power undermines the voices of everyday Texans and silences the will of the people.

Please prioritize transparency, fairness, and public input and not partisan gain. I urge you to reject any redistricting proposals that are not grounded in objective, nonpartisan principles.
