Message:

I do not agree with the Republican Party plan to redistrict the state of Texas. The POTUS has called for this to happen, but the majority of Texans do not want this gerrymandering of the state. Anyone who looks at the new map can tell it is a deliberate attempt to neutralize Democratic voters. If the only way to win an election is to do this, maybe Republicans should take a deep and honest look at their policies and see what they need to change in order to succeed without gerrymandering the state.

PS: This special session should be focused on helping the people of the Hill Country.
