To Texas Senators,

You are wrong to try to redistrict this year for so many reasons, a few of which I will list below:

1. You are cowering to the monster bully in the White House. He has ruined our country and has hurt and killed untold numbers of people around the globe. You follow a deeply disturbed pathological narcissistic cruel crazy guy and it's shameful.
2. You are racists and you are using semantics to try to force your way on people of color and on those of us who love all people.
Racism is naked fear and hatred.
3. We have spent years uniting our community and embracing all cultures within our boundaries and you would be ripping our communities apart all for white power. You are so afraid of not being in control of everything and everyone, and your actions display your terror of being in the minority in this state. You are going to have to give it up and face the music. There is nothing pure or good about being white. There is nothing good about being white and ruling over and silencing people who aren't white. You are making me disgusted with white people, and I'm white.
4. Evil has become so rampant in this country like never before and your plan to do this evil deed makes you complicit in cruel power grabs that hurt the majority of people in this state.
5. You must NOT tarnish the name of Jesus by claiming to be Christians.

Leave the maps alone and pay the price for the evil policies designed to keep you in power and hurt people you don't like, which is most people in Texas.

Don't be cruel and foolish and greedy and arrogant. The mad king must fall. Perhaps then we can restore integrity in our chosen leaders.

Sincerely,

Kate Mathis
Kyle, TX
