As a member of the Republican party, please stop. Cease the redistricting theater. The people of Texas are tired. The party is tired. All of the orders, the redistricting, the "beautiful" bills have left us reeling. We all know Texas is red. It's a red state in a red state of mind. It's also a flooded state, a place where young mothers are struggling to feed their children, and patchworks of communities struggling to survive together. Texas is the top producer of wind energy in the US. Instead of building on what we're great at, the national party has cut us off at the knees for a political win. Why are we trying to appease a president who has clearly shown he doesn't care about Texas? Covering for him is not your job. Throwing the populous under the bus for a loyalty pledge demonstrates to the people of Texas that the Republican party is taking direction from the top. We really need your help. Please focus on the people and what we need.
