Message:

I am writing as a concerned resident of Texas to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting plans.

Redistricting should reflect fair representation of all communities, not partisan interests. Gerrymandering undermines the principles of democracy by diluting the voices of certain populations—especially communities of color and historically marginalized groups.

I urge you to prioritize transparency, equity, and public input in this process, and to ensure that any new district maps reflect the true demographics and diversity of our state.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
