Message:

In my childhood, I was proud to be a Texan, knowing that I was in THE Lone Star State with other strong independent Americans willing to fight the good fight. As I grew, I realized not that Texans weren't who I thought they were, but that the true Texans are being represented. Our rights to life, liberty and happiness are not being respected or fought for; haven't been for quite a while. And if we continue to not get representation, y'all might find some figurative tea in the Gulf of Mexico.
