Message:

I was born and raised in Texas and have lived in the Fort Worth area for most of my life. Generations of my family have all been from Texas. I very strongly oppose any redistricting in and around my city, as well as anywhere in the great state of Texas that may favor the Republican Party. Every Texan regardless of where they live, their race, sexual orientation, gender identity, or religious preference, deserves to have their voices heard. Our representatives job is to serve their constituents. It is our Constitutional right to vote for those who we feel reflect our views and it is WRONG for the Texas Senate to redraw district lines in order to lessen the probability of their Republican members to be voted out. We give them the power and we also have the right to take it away if we are unhappy with their performance. Redrawing the lines is the cowardly way out instead of having a fair and even election in the current districts, whose lines Republicans originally drew back in 2021. If the Republican Party is worried about losing senate seats in Texas, I would urge them to start making decisions to help their constituents and making choices that align with their constituents values and needs; rather than bowing down to the current convicted felon occupying the White House.
