Regarding: Congressional

Message:

The proposed mid-term redistricting is not normal. The most recent redistricting was in 2021, after the census, as mandated by law.

This redistricting aims to suppress the vote, particularly of people of color, and the process has been deeply flawed. It has been rushed with limited opportunity for public input. Yes, gerrymandering may be legal, but it is rigging the system so that there can only be one winner. The last I checked, cheating was not a Texas value. What is a Texas value is taking care of our own--like the communities that were affected by the July 4 flooding. It is terrible that the legislature is putting partisan politics over the safety of Texas residents.
