Message:

Please do not redistrict Texas again. Unless you're going to go back to a more equitable districting but even if that is the case it should not be rushed through. If you are unable to gain support within your District then maybe you need to re-examine your policies and your rhetoric. It is shameful to keep changing the rules so that you win the game. The point of government should be to serve the people you represent not to manipulate the statistics to grab onto power to gain more and to increase your own wealth while stripping away basic human rights from our citizens. Let each person in Texas, even if they politically disagree with you, have equitable representation.
