Democrats are acting as if redistricting by Republicans is somehow illegal and a threat to democracy," but, they ignore the FACT that Demovcrats have been doing it habitually to minimize Republican representation in "blue" states from coast to coast. This is what Democrats refuse to discuss: When one compares the percentage of Republican U. S. Representatives to the percent of 2025 votes for Trump, it exposes the extreme degree of Democrat gerrymandering that exists in these states (and others, too).

- MA -- 0% GOP representatives vs. 36% of the state's votes for Trump!
- IL -- 18% GOP representatives vs. 44% of the state's votes for Trump.
- CA -- 17% GOP representatives vs. 38% of the state's votes for Trump.
- NY -- 27% GOP representatives vs. 43% of the state's votes for Trump.

"The Texas Constitution gives the governor the power to declare a vacancy in a legislative seat. If a legislator does not show up for a special session, it would be reasonable for @GregAbbott_TX to assume they have moved, or (that) they are otherwise incapacitated, rendering them incapable of exercising their duties." – Michael Quinn Sullivan.

It's past time for real legal and "karma accountability" to visit those who abandoned their seat/post and constituents at the Texas Capitol... and then fled (with outside financial assistance) to oh-so-liberal and gerrymandered Illinois... a perceived "sanctuary."

The bottom line is that without a significant penalty for significant violations, what benefit is any House rule (or law); and bad, cowardly behavior will not change.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.
