Message:

According to my rough calculations, this extreme redistricting that is proposed could render a minority citizen Texan vote to be worth roughly 3/5 of a white vote in Texas, harking back to the days of the 3/5 compromise. Which was clearly racist. Therefore, you can call this gerrymandering partisan all day long, but in reality it is also racist and is illegal.

Also, Republican states have already done a lot more gerrymandering than Democrat majority states. You've already used way more of your gerrymandering opportunities. Do you really want to unleash the Democrat majority states to gerrymander to the extent that Texas plans to?
