Hello,

I am a concerned constituent from Dallas, born and raised in Texas. I am appalled by the blatant disregard our elected officials have for the people they claim to represent. This rushed redistricting effort is a sham—it's not even the legally mandated time for it, yet political operatives are pushing it through to serve their own interests.

It's clear that this move is a desperate attempt by Republicans to cling to power. If elected leaders truly served Texans with integrity, there wouldn't be such fear over losing seats. The people of this state are tired of being ignored, manipulated, and suppressed. Texas does NOT need redistricting, we already face enough voter suppression and unnecessary barriers to fair elections.

What's even more insulting? Despite tens of thousands of Texans speaking out against this power grab, officials held only three public meetings. Three. That's not democracy—that's a slap in the face to every voter in this state. If you thought this would discourage us, you were dead wrong. We see exactly what this is: a cowardly attempt to silence dissent and rig the system.

We will not allow our voices to be silenced. To those who choose to move forward with this sham, know this: Texans will remember who sold us out for political gain. The time for accountability is coming. We will not back down. We will not be ignored. And we will hold every official accountable for choosing partisan power over the people of Texas.
