Message:

I am strongly opposed to any effort to redraw Texas' congressional districts during this special session. This process appears driven not by the needs of Texans, but by political pressure from President Trump and partisan goals that do not reflect the will of the people.

I am deeply disturbed by the idea that Texas Republicans feel "entitled" to five more congressional seats—this is authoritarian nonsense. Redistricting should be based on fair representation, not power-grabbing. Manipulating maps mid-decade, outside the normal census cycle, undermines public trust and will hurt real communities like mine. Voters should choose their representatives—not the other way around.

Please reject any attempt to redraw these districts behind closed doors. Texans deserve transparency, fairness, and a functioning democracy.

Sincerely,

Travis Buhler
