Message:

I strongly oppose the blatant power grab represented by this mid-decade redistricting effort. Redrawing maps outside the standard decennial cycle undermines the foundational democratic principle of fair and stable representation. This move is not about reflecting population changes—it's about manipulating political boundaries to entrench power and silence voices.

Texans deserve a redistricting process rooted in transparency, integrity, and public accountability—not rushed and partisan map-drawing designed to tilt the playing field. Changing the rules mid-game erodes public trust, deepens political cynicism, and marginalizes communities who already struggle to be heard.

Let the people choose their representatives—not the other way around.

I urge you to reject this irresponsible and undemocratic attempt at mid-decade redistricting. The future of representative democracy in Texas depends on it.
