Message:

This attempt at redistricting mid-decade seems dishonest, and I am especially skeptical in light of the president's comments about adding Republican-friendly district seats: "Texas will be the biggest one. And that'll be five." According to the Texas Tribune, Governor Abbott wasn't even in favor of redistricting until he got a phone call from the president, and now it's on the special session agenda. I disapprove this kind of dishonest behavior that does not represent the wants and needs of the Texas people. We should be focusing on relief and care for those impacted by the Kerr County floods.
