Message:

My understanding is that the only reason this unusual mid-decade redistricting proposal was added to the SS agenda is because Pres.Trump called the Governor and demanded it.

There was a time when Texas Republicans fiercely guarded their independence and were all about “state’s rights”. But today, when Donald Trump calls from Washington, they’re apparently willing to make a U-turn and not only take this up, but make it their #1 priority.

Haven’t we had enough of this partisan gerrymandering? Do Republicans really fear they have to go to these extreme measures in order to win elections? This is a vicious cycle and will only beget more of the same across the nation, inviting Democrats to do the same and “fight fire with fire”.

We don’t need this. Please devote yourselves to something that truly merits your attention: aiding the flood victims of Central Texas.

Thank you.
