Regarding: Congressional

Message:

I oppose the effort to create new districts mid-decade in Texas. I assume you will gerrymander the districts further, so they will not fairly represent the population. I have already been without representation in Congress since Sylvester Turner died, and the governor has blocked efforts to fill that vacancy. I find it absurd that you are rushing to hold hearings on redistricting when you have not publicized the proposed district maps. Is this legal? I know it's not moral. How much more power do you need? When will you be sated?
