Message:

The level of fear and corruption in the Republican Party is pathetic. What we have all learned in short order is that there is no bottom to your barrel. You know that your policies are designed and benefit only the super wealthy. You know by these actions that you cannot remain in power under fair conditions. If you honestly believe that your leadership is going to help the majority of Texans you would welcome fair elections. The sole purpose of redistricting is to tilt the playing field in your favor. It's shameful but for a party of politicians who have no shame it's par for the course. The only disappointment I have is that you will do whatever serves YOUR best interests regardless of what your constituents desire and deserve. Maybe you should all open that Bible that you claim to love and believe in so deeply and do some reading. Remember what you reap you will also sow.
