The proposed map that attaches a swath of voters in Tarrant County to District 25 should be rejected. The Tarrant County portion of such proposed district has no community of interests with the rural counties, including Hood County, (where I reside) or the other rural counties. It would also make campaigning election in such district needlessly more expensive by including a block of voters that must be reached in an expensive urban media market that is entirely different than the rural markets in the remainder of the district. I also have concerns that it un-Constitutionally would violate the Voting Rights Acts by diluting the urban minority voters' in Tarrant County ability to affect the outcome of the proposed district.
