Message:

Redistricting to buy yourself more votes is absolutely shameful. And there is a word for it - it's gerrymandering. It's manipulative. Instead of being so desperate for power that you can't see straight, why don't you do your jobs and be a representative of the people? Serve the people in your neighborhood instead of a neighborhood 300 miles away. As a representative, you can't possibly know an area that large and understand their concerns and then represent them well. Stay in your own neighborhood and serve it well.
