Message:

There is no mandate for redistricting to take place mid-decade. We are as Texans still trying to make sense and find solutions to the tragedy disaster that unfolded in the hill country not even 3 weeks ago! I have dear friends who lost grandchildren and it hit close to home. The state government has so many issues to still work on and with the state government only meeting every 2 years spending time on redistricting is most unsettling. You all claim this independence from federal government and Washington and yet, one note from President Trump and you all jump like scardy cats. Come on. Let's fight for Texas and fairness. Have some back bone for a change.
