Message:

The map drawn is using 2020 census data. We shouldn't use old data to draw maps that will affect the people of Texas.

If we are going to redistrict in between census years, we should bring in an independent organization to draw the lines. No one party should have their voting power reduced or eliminated. The goal of redistricting should be to represent the people better, not try to grab more power.

This looks to be just an attempt to rig the elections in favor of one party. If you need to cheat to win, is it because you cannot win in a fair election? It would be better to be fair and lose than to resort to cheating just to win. Maybe work on your platform instead of cheating.
