Greetings Committee Members,

My name is Jane Thompson and I live in Dallas where I was born and raised. I have lived in a number of different neighborhoods in the DFW area and each has had its own sense of community and what it expects from its leadership. Different communities face different challenges and have their own priorities which are important considerations for each resident when they choose who represents them.

With this rushed, unnecessary, cynical, mid-decade redistricting plot, you are seeking to undermine the right and responsibility of citizens to choose the best representation for their families and communities; Washington D.C. has no business directing our great state to mess with the choices of its citizens. We do not want representatives choosing their voters so they can run a non-campaign like shooting fish in a barrel.

While I desperately prefer that you wait until after the next census, as is customary, or at least have proposed maps to show so that we could give more informed input, and while I find it unconscionable that you are focusing on this b.s. instead of prioritizing disaster relief, (which was initially the stated reason for the special session), I realize that horse has already left the barn and so, as redistricting is going to happen, I demand that we have an independent redistricting commission draw the maps.

Enough is enough;

please get back to your jobs working for Texans.

Thank you for your time and attention.
