Message:

Like many of my fellow Texans (I was born in San Antonio and have lived in the Rio Grande Valley now for 22 years), I'm quite upset with the sudden and unwarranted plan to redraw - once again - our Congressional voting districts. We are still unresolved about the districts drawn a few years ago. It's time to treat our communities fairly. The purpose of voting districts is to give intact communities the right to express their views AS distinct communities. Gerrymandering is the cheater's way to get votes. It's transparent and obvious. And embarrassing. If redistricting is warranted it should be placed in the hands of nonpartisan or at least a totally equal bipartisan commission. But it isn't warranted. So just table it.
